HOCHTIEF's subsidiary Turner Construction Company has won three new contracts in the healthcare and educational segments. The Turner subsidiary Tompkins Builders Inc. will serve as the general contractor in the construction of St. Elizabeth Hospital in Washington, D.C., and will also construct an addition to Langley Air Force Base Hospital in Virginia. In addition, Turner Construction was selected as general contractor for the construction of a new high school in West Sacramento, California. The three contracts represent a combined volume of EUR 231 million (USD 303 million).

St. Elizabeth Hospital in Washington will accommodate 230 beds and be completed in March 2009. The three-story addition to Langley Air Force Base Hospital is scheduled to be completed by the end of 2008. The client of West Sacramento High School is the Washington Unified School District. The school is designed to accommodate 2,000 students and is scheduled to be ready for teaching in the fall of 2008.

Turner is among the leading construction companies in the US healthcare market. With the new contracts, it this year already acquired hospital contracts worth roughly EUR 1.3 billion (USD 1,7 billion), including the cancer center at Yale-New Haven Hospital in Connecticut, the construction of the new Provena Saint Joseph Hospital in Elgin and the Medical Center in Springfield, Oregon.

Turner is the leading general builder in the US, ranking first or second in the major segments of the building construction field. During 2005, Turner completed USD 7.4 billion of construction. Turner is the only builder offering clients a nationwide network of offices across the U.S. Founded in 1902, the firm is a subsidiary of HOCHTIEF, one of the world's leading international construction service providers. For more information, visit Turner's website at www.turnerconstruction.com.

HOCHTIEF is one of the leading international providers of construction-related services. With more than 41,000 employees and a sales volume of EUR 13.65 billion in FY 2005, the company is represented in all the world's major markets. In the USA, the biggest construction market in the world, HOCHTIEF is the No. 1 general builder via its subsidiary Turner. With its Group company Leighton, HOCHTIEF is market leader in Asia/Australia. The HOCHTIEF service offering in the fields of development, construction, services, concessions and operation covers the entire value chain of projects.
