HOCHTIEF Facility Management wins contract at Stuttgart Airport

Servicing of technical facilities in high-security area

HOCHTIEF Facility Management will service the building installations at the four terminals of Stuttgart Airport over the next four years. The company has now concluded a contract to this effect with the airport company. The parties agreed to keep the contract volume confidential.

The Essen-based service provider will, among others, service the ventilation and sprinkler systems as well as the control technology in the airport buildings. In doing so, HOCHTIEF Facility Management has to comply with special requirements as the technical facilities are located in the high-security area of the departures and arrivals area.
