New orders for over EUR 1 billion in Asia-Pacific area

Remediation of Hunter River riverbed in Australia - Extended services for mines in Indonesia and Australia

HOCHTIEF subsidiary Leighton has received orders with a total value of around EUR 1.07 billion through its participating interests: Thiess Services is remediating a stretch of river bed in the south arm of the Hunter River in New South Wales, Australia. The project is worth almost EUR 283 million (A$ 405 million). Leighton Asia will mine coal in the Indonesian MSJ mine for a further six years and receive a total of around EUR 772 million (A$ 1.1 billion) in return. Leighton Contractors was recently commissioned to perform additional services in the Woodie Woodie Mine in Western Australia for three years for almost EUR 119 million (A$ 170 million).

On the Hunter River, Thiess Services is remediating a section of the river adjacent to a former steelworks on behalf of BHP Billiton. As part of the contract it will also be building the necessary facilities and ensuring the proper disposal of contaminants. The company has already been involved in the project performing early works for twelve months and has now begun the actual remediation. This will take until 2012. Leighton Asia will increase production at the MSJ mine in the north of the Indonesian region of East Kalimantan to eight million tons of coal per annum and remove the overburden. Production at the Woodie Woodie Mine is set to be increased to around 1.4 million cubic metre per month by the end of 2011. Leighton Contractors will load and haul bulk waste materials at the manganese ore mine.
