Turner Celebrates a Century of Building Hope and Healing

In recognition of building healthcare facilities for 100 years, the Turner Construction Company Foundation will support the healthcare of the communities where we live and work.

January 21, 2025 – Turner Construction Company is proud to commemorate 100 years of building healthcare facilities that support lifesaving care, foster healing, and bring comfort to patients and their families.

As a leading healthcare builder in North America, Turner completes an average of $3.5 billion annually in healthcare projects. Our experience ranges from community hospitals to cutting-edge research centers. The company continues to innovate and build adaptable facilities that meet the evolving needs of modern medicine.

Underscoring Turner's dedication to fostering a healthier future for communities, the Turner Construction Company Foundation granted over one million dollars to healthcare related charities and organizations in 2024. The Foundation supports healthcare organizations in their efforts to address critical health challenges, improve access to care, and promote mental and physical well-being. This is the cornerstone of Turner's 100 Years of Healthcare Commitment, which aims to strengthen the foundation of healthcare services and innovation for the next century.

“Turner is honored to contribute to building spaces where healing flourishes and people receive the care they need,” said Peter Davoren, Chairman and CEO. “This milestone is a testament to the vision of our clients, the passion of our people, and the trust we’ve earned over generations. Together, we’ve created environments that deliver care and offer hope.”

“Our century-long commitment to healthcare construction is deeply rooted in Turner’s mission to enrich lives,” said Randy Keiser, National Healthcare Director. “We are privileged to have partnered with healthcare providers who trust us to deliver spaces that elevate patient outcomes. A testament to our dedication to achieving their vision is that 80% of our work is for repeat clients.”

Keiser continued, “More than 2,000 Turner employees have experience on healthcare projects, and they truly appreciate the opportunity to be involved in this work. They look forward making a difference in the lives of others as they create spaces that empower healthcare professionals, support groundbreaking research, and transform patient care for future generations.”
